PIRATES AGAIN. ROB A LOCAL FISHING PARTY.

Off Lantau Island.

GUN-BOATS AND POLICE ON LOOK-OUT.

An alarming experience befell a party of local residents on Saturday night as they were fishing off Lantau island and within sight of Castle Peak.

Constituting a large party which it would have been a difficult matter to surprise and overpower, the amateur fishers became easy victims once they split up into several parties.

The bulk of the men took fishing boats some distance away, leaving the launches and motor boats by which the party had reached their destination with very few aboard, chiefly ladies.

Although only seven pirates participated in the hold-up of those left on board and the robbery of jewellery and money, it is thought that others were aboard the launch which was in the charge of a Chinese crew alone. The pirates left aboard this launch, it is thought, covered the attack made by the seven others upon the other launch and two motor boats.

Although no member of the fishing party observed the attack made on the "Wing Shing" it is thought that it was carried out by means of a flat bottomed Chinese boat propelled by oars—a boat which they used for carrying on the boarding of the other boats afterwards.

The incidents in question took place between 6 and 8.30 p.m. on Saturday evening at a bay in the vicinity of Chu Lu Lok, Lantau Island.

No trace has yet been found of a launch, the "Wing Shing" taken together with its Chinese crew, by the pirates, but the naval authorities have directed all gunboats to keep a look-out and have circulated a description of the vessel.

The police are working in conjunction with the Canton and Macao authorities and everything possible will be done to bring the pirates to book.

Accomplices Ashore?

It is suggested that the pirates had accomplices ashore on Lantau island for, whilst blissfully unconscious of what was going on in the launches and motor boats they had left behind, the members of the party in fishing boats at various points observed beacons flare suddenly from high points on the island. They attached little significance to this at the time, thinking it was in connection with the celebration of the "Seven Virgin Sisters" festival, but afterwards they came to the conclusion that it must have been a pre-conceived signal that all was clear for the pirates to begin the raid.

A shot was also heard about the same time that the beacons were spotted, also believed to have been a signal. Although assured by the fisherfolk whose boats they had engaged for the purpose of getting in close to promising spots that the "shot" was only a big cracker, the various parties made their way back to where they had left the launches and motor boats and it was on their arrival that they heard for the first time of the robbery that had been carried out.

It appears that the "Wing Shing" launch which the raiders eventually took away, was boarded first and the crew forced to take the launch alongside the "Cheong Wo." There were only the Chinese crew on board and these were terrorised by the pirates. It had evidently been the pre-conceived intention of the pirates to make their get away on the captured launch "Wing Shing" and there was no attempt made to interfere with its engine. The pirates endeavoured, however, to put the "Cheong Wo" out of action by instructing the Chinese engineer to take off certain parts which were not, in fact, vital to the running of the launch. The pirates instructed him to take off the siren and on this being done they appropriated it, thinking that minus its "voice" the launch would be unable to escape.

TO-DAY'S DOLLAR.

The closing rate of the dollar, on demand to-day was 2/1 15/16

The motor boat "Amy" was then visited by the pirates. Here, in addition to the ladies left behind, certain gentlemen members of the party had returned from fishing. All were made to put their hands up whilst the pirates carried out a search for valuables. They took a gold watch and ring from Mr. Muskett and Mr. Gillard, two members of the party, but were obviously in fear of being interrupted and took away little else although several passengers had jewellery and money which they concealed.

The biggest haul was made from the motor boat "Paracels" which was next boarded by the pirates. Everything portable was taken: in addition to watches, rings, bangles, etc., gramophones and even a mahjong set were appropriated by the pirates. One of the pirates took a pair of glasses from Mr. C. H. Kew but on being informed that they were "only for a blind man" the pirate returned them. About $400 in money was taken away from passengers and the jewellery taken from the "Paracels" is roughly valued at $600.

A Night Swim.
The other motor boat, the "Nuff Sed," was not pirated. She had been taken when the party first split up to the other side of the island, off a promontory of Tung Ching Island and the first the party on board knew of events was when Mr. Carvalho arrived on board after walking across the island and swimming. The "Nuff Sed" at once proceeded to the spot and pains for a return were made. Attempts had been made to disable the "Amy" but the engineer had handed them certain spare parts in response to their demands and the only motor boat out of action was the "Paracels."

Pirates Plan Return.
The object of the attempts to disable the boats (coal was taken from the bunkers in addition to engine parts) appears to have been to enable the pirates to return later and take away more booty—perhaps even passengers for ransom. One of the lady passengers said she heard the pirates announce their intention of returning early the next morning. The "Nuff Sed" towed the "Paracels" to Hongkong, and the "Amy" went to Tsun Wan to make a further report of the incident. The "Cheong Wo" followed in company with the fishing boats, the whole of the party with the exception of the Chinese crew of the one launch captured by pirates returning to Hongkong about one o'clock yesterday morning.

The party was made up as follows:—
Steam-launch "Ching Wo": Mr. C. A. da Rocha, Mr. R. L. da Rocha, Mr. and Mrs. H. Barnes and Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Carvalho.
Steam-launch "Wing Shing": Mr. Ribeiro, Mr. Rodrigues, Mr. J. Sousa, Mr. L. A. Osmund, Mr. Samy, Mr. C. F. Vas and Mr. E. L. Barros.

Motor-boat "Amy": Mr. W. B. Muskett, Assistant Engineer, Hongkong Electric Company, Mr. A. Gillard, chief traffic inspector, Hongkong Tramways, Mr. E. Mow Fung and Mr. M. Sousa.
M.B. "Paracels": M. F. H. Kew, Mr. C. Kew and friends.
M.B. "Nuff Sed": Mr. J. W. Kew, who owns the boat, accompanied by friends.

Latest Details.

In the interval it has been discovered that the loot taken by the pirates amounted to more than $1,000, and exceeds the first

EMBEZZLEMENT.

J.C.L. SHROFF SENT TO PRISON.

The shroff in the compradore's department of the Java China Japan Line, who was remanded last week on a charge of embezzling $12,000, collections made on behalf of the firm, was again before Mr. R. E. Lindell at the Central Magistracy this morning, when Det. Sub-Inspector Lane mentioned that no restitution had been made.

Defendant said that he offered to pay $1,500 in cash and sign a promissory note for the balance, but this was refused.

Sentence of six months' hard labour was imposed.

THE TYPHOON.

LATEST POSITION AND MOVEMENTS.

Warning of a typhoon of unknown intensity within 80 miles of Lat 22 N. Long. 125 E., moving N.N.W. was given by the Observatory at 10 a.m. to-day.

Later official intelligence was that the typhoon is now severe and near Ishigaki, moving N.N.W. or N.W. It will probably strike the coast to-morrow morning between Shanghai and Foochow.

Pressure has increased considerably at Ishigaki and slightly over Formosa and N.E. Japan. It is nearly stationary elsewhere.

Till noon to-morrow the forecast is (Formosa Channel) West to south west winds, fresh; (Hongkong and coast) South west winds moderate, fine to cloudy.

To-day the local American Consulate-General received the following from Manila:—3 a.m. August 22, typhoon in about Lat. 31 N. Long. 125 E., moving North.

Later, 10.15 a.m., August 23: typhoon in about Lat. 25 N. Long. 123 E., moving N.N.W.

Chinese resident at Tampico, in Mexico, had remitted to Canton (states a Kuomintang report) a sum of $5,000 to assist the Government in its Northern Expedition.

estimate. It is made up principally of money and jewellery.

The Naval authorities have been asked to co-operate with the Criminal Investigation Department and the Water Police.

Macao has been communicated with and asked to maintain vigilance.

Defectives have proceeded to the locality to make inquiries as to visits by strangers, etc.

This is not the first piracy on British waters. Some time ago, an armed band raided Lantau Island. Before the War, another gang attacked the police station on Cheung Chau Island and killed a number of police officers.

A Chinese report stated that the stolen launch had returned yesterday, but this is not correct. It was also mentioned that the "Wing Shing" had been used by the pirates to tow two heavily laden salt junks towards Boca Tigris and then released.

Till midday to-day there was no sign of the "Wing Shing."

One surmise is that this launch, like others that have been stolen before, will be disguised, and used by the pirates in their part of the river delta.

POLICE DUTIES.

Lukon On Manslaughter Charge.

AT CRIMINAL SESSIONS.

"Not A Pleasant Duty For The Crown."

It is not a pleasant duty for the Crown to have to prosecute one of the police of the Colony particularly when the man in question had no doubt in his own mind that he was doing right, but it is a duty that must be done in the interests of the law and of the protection the law affords to the public.—Mr. A. Dyer Ball, acting for the Attorney-General, in addressing the jury this morning relative to the charge of manslaughter against a Chinese constable who fired at a sampan and is alleged, caused the death of one of the inmates. The incidents in question took place on the evening of June 13.

The position was a difficult, interesting and unusual one, said Mr. Dyer Ball. "The deceased man had met his death only a few hours after his arrival in the Colony, having arrived from Cebu with a cargo of pigs. He was on his way back from a pig dealer, having bought certain products for feeding the pigs on board the junk which was in the harbour when the incidents took place. The food was removed to a sampan which was engaged for the purpose and the deceased man, his brother and another man from the junk, boarded a conservancy boat which was tied bows on to the Praya, lowering themselves from this to the sampan in question.

The Firing.

It would be stated in evidence that they saw no one in particular prior to their boarding or afterwards, that they were not called on to stop and that they had not acted in a hurry as if engaged on unlawful intent. After the sampan had rowed for minute or so in the direction of the junk, the deceased's brother would give evidence that he heard a shot followed by several more and then the blowing of police whistles. After the second shot he heard the deceased give a shout and move from the stern, where he had been sitting, to a position underneath the hood of the sampan.

It was dark and no one noticed anything peculiar about the deceased; they did not even know he had been shot, and it was not until they arrived at the junk and asked deceased to render assistance in removing the pig-food that they found he had been shot and was, in fact, dead. No one in the sampan had gathered that the shots were being fired at them and the women on the sampan had continued their rowing without taking notice. The deceased's brother on finding his brother dead, went ashore and reported to the police who had the body removed to the mortuary.

Peaceful Proceeding.

Mr. Dyer Ball emphasised that the men, when fired at, were engaged in a peaceful proceeding, and that their behaviour prior to boarding the sampan could not be interpreted as even suspicious. Two shop folks who had gone to the Praya carrying the food from the shop where it had been bought did not even hear the shots or whistles and had no knowledge of what had happened until the deceased's brother went to the shop later in the evening and informed them.

The evidence of a sailor in charge of the conservancy boat already mentioned, was referred to. It was to the effect that he was awakened by a shot and the blowing of a police whistle and saw a constable standing at the stern of the boat firing at a sampan in the distance. The sailor questioned the constable who replied that the sampan had been engaged in smuggling illicit goods and that he was firing to stop it. It was for the jury to decide, said Mr. Dyer Ball, whether the act of the constable was in the circumstances then existing sufficient for them to consider him guilty of manslaughter.

Fired In Air?

The jury would also have the evidence of two district watchmen who came on the scene shortly afterwards and to whom the prisoner stated that he had seen

$100 COOLIES.

GENERAL CHANG'S CHAIR IN HUNAN.

"KNOW THE DEVIL."

When General Chang Kai-shek called for twelve chairs, pooled to follow him to Hunan the other day, and offered a wage of $100 a month, only six responded.

"It was a case presumably of the devil we know being preferable to the devil we don't know," observes the "Central China Post" (Hankow).

General Chang, commander-in-chief of the Canton Nationalist Army, is now directing victorious operations on the Hunan-front. Chinese war correspondents have described his entry into the war zone as by aeroplane, by rail, on horseback, by boat, and other means, but never by chair. [Note: The "mountain" chair, by no means as "comfortable" as those in Hongkong, is still a favoured mode of transport in the interior.]

Four-bags full of stuff which he believed to be contraband and that on his approach the men who were carrying it had put it on a sampan and hurried away; that he (prisoner) had called on them to stop twice; blown his whistle and warned them that he was going to fire, and that as they took no notice he had fired first in the air and then at the sampan. Mr. Dyer Ball commented on the fact that what the deceased and his companions had in fact been carrying were kerosene tins containing the pig food and no bags at all.

The police constable had then returned to Number 7 Police station and made a report, handing in his revolver with five expended rounds. The bullet found in deceased's body was of the type used in the prisoner's revolver. Apparently, commented Mr. Dyer Ball, the prisoner had fired five rounds without knowing that he had even hit anyone. This, however, made no difference to the position and to make the position clear to the jury he would read extracts from law which gave a clear distinction between homicides which were justifiable and those which were not. These were as follows:—

Law Applicable.

"If a person who is a police officer or private person is legally attempting to arrest on a charge of felony or inflicting a dangerous wound and the person flees and cannot be otherwise arrested, he may be killed and the homicide is justifiable."

"If the charge against the person who is being arrested is one of misdemeanour or a breach of the peace and he is killed by the police officer it is murder if done intentionally or done by a weapon likely to kill; manslaughter if death is unintentional and caused by means not likely to cause death."

The Crown held that the prisoner in this case, said Mr. Dyer Ball, had fired not with the intention of killing but with the intention of stopping the sampan. They had therefore charged prisoner with manslaughter rather than murder. Mr. Dyer Ball also referred to certain rules with which all police officers are acquainted and which lay down when and when not a police officer is justified in firing.

Prisoner's Statements.

Statements were read made by the prisoner at the inquest before a magistrate. In these he stated that he observed the men carrying sacks which bulged suspiciously and that on his (prisoner's) approach a man in a white jacket on the Praya made a hissing noise as a signal. He heard the men with the sacks say "Police are coming; hurry up." The statement also went on to aver that prisoner warned the men in the boat before they pushed off that they were not to go as he wanted to search and that he also shouted to them to stop several times before he actually fired. He intended to hit no one and had fired only with the intention of frightening the passengers and making them turn back.

Statements were also made regarding prisoner's knowledge of instructions to police officers with regard to the use of weapons.

Mr. F. C. Jenkin is defending prisoner.

The case is proceeding.

AT THE STAR.

"THE WANTERS" AND "TWO MINUTES TO GO."

To-day's double bill at the Star includes "The Wanters" with Marie Prevost and "Two Minutes to Go" with Chas. Ray. Buster Keaton's two reel comedy, "The High Sign," is also in the bill.

This simple, human story is again proving itself the screen superior of the big, rambling plot with a maze of complications. This time it is John M. Stahl's production of "The Wanters" that brings this fact forcibly home.

With a great idea embodied in the theme and wonderfully human treatment in its development, the production stands out and above the average film of to-day.

There is something "different" about this picture, and credit for the refreshing newness and dramatic strength of the situation is largely due to the genius of Mr. Stahl, the director.

Without becoming a preachment, the theme presents a strong lesson, related through the experience of a girl of humble state who accepts a position as maid in a millionaire's home in order to be near the beautiful things she has always craved. A new world opens for her when the good-looking young man of the family, a modern knight-errant, in her estimation, falls in love with her and proposes marriage. But the narrow prejudices and selfish jealousies of the chronic "wanters" of the story take an active part in her romance, and nearly succeed in ruining it before they are suddenly awakened to their cruel injustice of their treatment of the girl.

A large capable cast that truly deserves the appellation, "all-star," interprets the characters. Charming Marie Prevost adds greatly to her past screen laurels as the central figure of the absorbing plot. Other favourites who distinguish themselves in this film are Robert Ellis, Huntley Gordon, Norma Shearer, Gertrude Astor, Little Richard Hendrick, Lincoln Stedman, Louise Fazenda, Hank Mann, Harold Goodwin, Lillian Langdon, Vernon Steele and Lydia Yeamans Titus.

"Two Minutes to Go," a fascinating and humorous story of college life by Richard Andre, provides Charles Ray with just the sort of role best suited to his own peculiar and exceptional talent. Mary Anderson appears as his leading lady. Others prominent in the cast are Lionel Belmore, Lincoln Stedman, Trueman Van Dyke, Gus Leonard, Tom Wilson, Bert Woodruff, Francois Dumas and Phillip Dunham.

Ray gives an excellent portrayal of a football hero in this picture. The charm and virility which has characterised Ray in past screen successes was never better exemplified than in his interpretation of the role of the college lad, who, through financial reverses, is compelled to quit the team and give his spare time to peddling milk as a means of working his way through school.

It is a "Ray" type of picture and therefore highly entertaining.

AT THE QUEEN'S.

BESSIE LOVE THE HEROINE OF "TORMENT."

Maurice Tourneur's love for the picturesque, the thrilling and the unusual, is again given full sway in his screen production of "Torment," the first National picture which will be shown at the Queen's Theatre to-day only.

More than that, it is the most vivid, fascinating film that he has yet contributed to the screen. Bessie Love, the sweet and simple heroine, has the leading part, nine roles, with that capable actor, Owen Moore, giving a strong characterisation opposite her. Jean Herskovitz is to be seen in a role similar to that of his "Servant in the House," while important parts are taken by Maude George, George Cooper, Morgan Wallace and Otto Lederer. With this well chosen cast to aid him and his story, Tourneur has achieved a splendid result.

The story moves swiftly and dramatically. It begins with the setting of the Russian revolution, involves the theft of the crown jewels and ends with the great Japanese earthquake as the power of the crown is restored.

In between there is a sea voyage, with many scenes of beauty such as those for which Tourneur is noted, and a thrilling hold-up of an American express train.

Owen Moore has the part of an American, exiled, who, through love of Bessie Love, who portrays a servant-girl on the yacht of the American head of an international band of thieves, the love of Boris, the Russian prince, portrayed by Jean Herskovitz, for his fellow man, is a theme running through the play around which much of the action revolves.

Tourneur has a knack of pleasing his audiences with pictures. In none within the memory of the present writer has he succeeded better.

Miss Gladys Garfield, the Australian vocalist, will sing some new popular songs.

Y.W.C.A. MEETING.

MALAYA REPRESENTED BY MISS HOSE.

At the World's Y.W.C.A. Committee meeting held at St. Hugh's College, in Oxford at the beginning of July, Miss Hose attended as the representative of the Malayan Y.W.C.A.

The attendance at the conference was limited to 150 people and this number included representatives and visitors from 34 countries in which Association work is organised. The Lady Parmoor, President of the World's Y.W.C.A., presided.

Two Oriental women, Mrs. C. C. Chen of Shanghai, and Mrs. Tanaka Uemura of Tokyo, were among the outstanding representatives in the group which was composed of many brilliant and well-known European women.

Miss Hose gave vivid impressions of the spirit of the group which was an example of Christianity as a unifying force, showing a strong sense of real fellowship.

The next biennial meeting will be held in the Near East in the summer of 1928 and the following one in China.

BLACK CAP.

CHINESE CONVICTED OF MURDER.

The Criminal Sessions, sitting on the Aberdeen murder trial continued on Saturday morning and afternoon, the defence opening with the evidence of prisoner in the box, concluding with address of his counsel and the case being finally concluded with the Attorney-General's speech for the prosecution and the summing up of the Chief Justice (Sir H. G. Gollan).

Chang Chun, the prisoner charged with the murder of his wife at Aberdeen, gave evidence on his own behalf on Saturday. Examined as to the relations between himself and his wife prior to the morning on which she was found with a wound in her throat, prisoner said that they were not on good terms on account of several reasons. One was regarding their daughter's betrothal on which they differed and another was the fact that owing to bad times he was not able to supply his wife with much money.

On the morning in question prisoner said that he and his wife had a talk over matters relating to a possible separation between them. It started quite amicably but later they began to talk very loudly and his wife was cross and abused him. Prisoner wished to keep the two younger sons in the event of a separation and his wife was not agreeable. Eventually, the woman suggested that they should go together to the Secretariat for Chinese Affairs and have a decision on the matter but he refused to do so.

After more conversation between them, continued prisoner, his wife became very cross with him and got hold of a chisel with which she attempted to stab prisoner. She was whilst he (prisoner) was warding off her attack and forcing her hand back that the chisel entered the neck of his wife and the blood spouted out. Prisoner immediately drew the chisel out and threw it away. He intended to render help to the wounded woman but she got up and walked away and he went out to get assistance when he was arrested.

Cross-examined by the Attorney-General, prisoner said that he did not understand what the charge against him was when he was taken to Aberdeen police station. He denied that it was read over to him. The statement produced by the Attorney-General appeared to be signed by him but it was not read over to him before he signed it.

Questioned further regarding the grounds for the bad feeling between himself and his wife prisoner admitted that he had been displeased with his wife because she had been unfaithful to him some years ago, and that he had brought this matter up on the morning in question. His wife had been angry with him for bringing it up.

Asked where the woman got the chisel with which he alleged she had made an attempt to attack him, prisoner said that he noticed her feeling on the top of the matting on the bed, and he believed she got it from there.

In addressing the jury, Mr. Hing-shing Lo, for the prisoner, said that there was no direct evidence that the prisoner intended to kill his wife and there were only certain statements which prisoner himself had denied and which he said had not been read over to him when signed. He suggested that prisoner had, at any rate, no realisation of what he was saying at the time. He was not legally represented at the time and had no one to advise him. Counsel maintained that from the evidence as before them the jury could not find that the prisoner intended to take his wife's life, as they would have to find if they convicted him of the charge brought against him.

The Attorney-General, the Hon. Mr. J. H. Kemp, in addressing the jury, maintained that the prisoner's story of the wound being self-inflicted by the deceased was impossible having regard to the position in which the body was and that of the pool of blood.

Mr. Kemp referred to the conduct of the prisoner after the woman had been stabbed. Was it the act of an innocent man, he asked, to leave his wife in the charge of women who were endeavouring to succour her and to walk away out of the house? With regard to the damaging statements taken from his own lips and signed by him, prisoner had now seen fit to deny them. They were verified by two European officers of integrity. Was it likely that they would go into the witness-box and deliberately swear that the usual procedure had been followed in this case if it had not.

Summing Up.
His Lordship, in summing up, said that the jury would have to

LAST POST.

FUNERAL OF SUBMARINE
TELEGRAPHIST.

The funeral took place at the Happy Valley Cemetery on Saturday evening of Leading Telegraphist Leonard Carlisle, of Submarine L7.

The chief mourners were Lieutenant Commander Young, Lieutenant Commander Bailwood, of Submarine T7; Commander Poland, of H.M.S. Ambrose; and the officers of all the Naval fleet in port. A firing party was present from the Naval Yard.

The service was conducted at the cemetery by the Rev. J. H. Hewitt, Chaplain of the Royal Navy. All the crews of the warships in port attended; also a squad of the East Surrey Regiment. A bugler from the Naval Yard sounded the "Last Post."

Floral wreaths were sent by the following, among others:—

Rear-Admiral Stirling; Mrs. J. H. Oxberry; Bro. J. L. Goldenberg; the Commander (S) and the Ward Room Officers of H.M.S. Ambrose; from his sorrowing mess mates of the R.I.T. H.M. Sub. FERRY CRASHES.

BUMPING INTO HONGKONG SEAWALL.

Once again, a "Star" ferry has crashed into the Praya wall alongside the Hongkong wharf.

At 9 a.m. yesterday, the "Polar Star" hit the seawall with considerable force when she failed to get astern.

When within a few feet of danger, a rope was put round a capstan and the engines did begin to move astern, but it was too late.

There were only a few passengers on board. They felt a severe jolt but no worse. The ferry then took passengers on her return trip to Kowloon, with her bows damaged.

be convinced that the Crown had proved to their satisfaction that the prisoner unlawfully killed the deceased with malice aforethought, i.e., under circumstances which could not be excused or justified and that the intention to kill preceded the act in the mind of prisoner.

Regarding the allegations of prisoner as to statements signed by him, His Lordship emphasised that the two European officers had sworn that the usual procedure of reading over to the prisoner his statement had been followed. In the first statement made by prisoner he admitted having "used the chisel on her" and in the second statement when the woman died and he was charged with murder he made a statement which only differed slightly in that he said he had no intention of killing her. If a man took a deadly weapon like a chisel and thrust at a vital spot causing death the law constituted this a felony and the intention of murder to be present.

The jury retired for five minutes and returned a verdict of guilty, this being unanimous. His Lordship passed sentence of death which the prisoner received with composure.

GALLEON JUDGMENT.

TRIMMED MUCH BY THE STERN.

COURT & VESSEL'S STABILITY.

Newcastle, July 12.—Judgment was given at Newcastle to-day in the Board of Trade inquiry into the loss of the Newcastle steamer "Galleon," which disappeared with a crew of 13 after leaving Blyth on November 24 last.

The Court found that the vessel left Blyth in good and seaworthy condition as regarded hull and equipment.

It was a matter for consideration whether or not (especially in the case of vessels of the well-deck type) some portion of the bulwarks on the quarter deck and well-deck should consist of open rails.

The Court was of the opinion that the stability of the vessel was not completely investigated by the builders. The vessel was not so loaded as to ensure safe stability under severe weather conditions.

There was no evidence enabling the Court to express definite opinion as to the cause of the vessel not having been heard of since she left Blyth on November 24. The most probable cause in the opinion of the Court was that the vessel was overwhelmed by heavy following seas, from which she was unable to free herself in consequence of her being trimmed so much by the stern.

SHIPS WANTED.

FIFTY-NINE VESSELS TO SHIP IT.

U.S. WINTER WHEAT CROP.

According to Washington mail advices, action by the Administration to protect the price of wheat has been taken by the Secretary of Commerce and the Secretary of Agriculture in calling upon the Shipping Board to make ships available at once for shipment of the winter wheat crop of the south-west to Europe.

At a meeting the Board voted the use of some 50 vessels of aggregate tonnage of 519,000 tons for this purpose.

Twenty-seven of the vessels are ready for use as soon as called upon, and the balance will be made ready within thirty days—soon enough to be on hand for the heaviest part of the shipments. The 32 vessels not ready for sea will be conditioned at a cost of approximately $2,000 each, and the total cost of this operation to the Board, including losses which will be incurred in running expenses and return of the vessels in ballast, is estimated at between $100,000 and $120,000.

KOBE FREIGHTS & SHIPPING.

Kobe, August 12.

There is a reaction in freights for American timber and wheat for Japan owing to foreign ships added to the Japanese tonnage in operation in this section of trade. Current rates for September loading are $4 for wheat and $9.75 for timber. Shippers expect a lower rate with confidence but shipowners are of a different opinion, so that loadings are postponed. Inquiries for large vessels to be chartered for handling these classes of cargo have lull. Difficulty is experienced in loading Saghalien timber on account of the low water in the rivers in Saghalien. The rate is weak in sympathy, touching ¥120 on the shipper's side in the West Coast-Pacific ports. It may be noted that up to July 31 502 ships had been put into operation for this purpose, loading 5,464,500 koku. At present 71 vessels are loading. The coal rate in the Wakamatsu-Yokohama section has gone off to ¥1.30. One feature is a strong demand for handy boats for fishing in Hokkaido and neighbourhood. Day charter rates tend to harden.

Idle Tonnage.

According to the Department of Communications, 207 ships with a total weight of 27,480 tons were laid up in the principal ports of Japan proper at the end of July. Of these, 5 were ships of 1,000 tons and more, weighing in all 10,347 tons, which represent a decrease of one in number and 3,733 tons in weight on the month.

Bangkok Line.

The Osaka Shosen Kaisha will establish a regular service between Kobe and Bangkok, the first line starting on August 15. The company had operated two lines regularly to Java-Bangkok and Keelung-Bangkok till March last. The withdrawal by the Communications Office of the subsidies on these routes caused the company to abandon the lines. But it was deemed necessary to maintain at least one line in that direction and the company decided to make trial runs, which were started early in May. The trial proved satisfactory and the company is ready regularly to operate a line between Kobe and Bangkok, via Saigon, from August 15. The liners to be put on this monthly service will be the Koso and Soko, which expect to carry cotton goods, porcelain, matches and other cargo "on the outward voyage and hardwood, broken rice, cereals and paints on the inward voyage."

KOBE HARBOUR.

RECTIFYING CONSTRUCTIONAL DELAYS.

The improvement or extension of the Kobe and Hyogo ports was originally planned to be finished in the course of 1928 at the joint cost of the Government and the Municipality.

However, the undertaking was obliged to be prolonged by five years or as late as 1933, consequent upon the Government's financial stringency. The Municipal authorities now intend to promote the construction of No. 2 eastern breakwater for the sake of the domestic trade, to be further carried out by Hyogo port. A pier was planned to be provided for Hyogo port, besides, in the financial year of 1927 but this is unlikely to be realised by the date mentioned.

Considering the slowness of progress not only in the improvements at Hyogo but in the proposed extension for the foreign trade in Kobe port, the Municipality and the leading people of the Municipal Assembly agreed to present their opinions formally to Mr. Wakatsuki, the Premier, and the Ministers of Home Affairs and Finance. The idea is, of course, to pray the Government authorities for the speedy completion of the said improvements in Hyogo port as well as those in Kobe port. The importance of the port of Kobe for the foreign trade is specially emphasized.

Berlin, July 15.—The largest Diesel motor ever built is being tested at Hamburg. The machine generates 15,000 horse power, three thousand more than the biggest Diesels built for German submarines during the War. The new motor will be used for the Hamburg power plants at Neuhof. It is 30 feet high and with its alternating current dynamo, 102 feet long.

U.S. COAST TRADE.

HOOVER EXPLAINS ITS VALUE.
FOREIGN TRADE WANTED.

New York.
Declaring the United States must and will one day have a strong merchant marine in foreign trade, Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, in an address delivered at the luncheon given by E. D. Tonne, president of the Matson Navigation Company, in the Pen Athletic Club, Philadelphia, just before the launching of the big new Matson liner Malolo, expressed the belief that the coastwise trade will form the base from which our steamship companies will gradually extend their operations into the overseas trade. Mr. Hoover said, in part:—
"The launching of a great ship stirs deeply our imagination, and our racial instincts. Among our primary human instincts there are two which run strong in all men—the yearning for the soil and for the sea. Some one has said that we were not a seafaring people, but they forget that we were born of seagoing races. We came by the sea to this land, and pride and romance of the sea runs strong in our blood.
"And we are a seafaring people. In our coastwise trade and its extension to Porto Rico and Hawaii and other outlying possessions in the service of the Great Lakes we have over 7,000 vessels under the American flag, totalling over 8,000,000 tons and employing over 100,000 seamen. These services alone comprise nearly 14 per cent. of the world's tonnage and are in themselves a greater fleet than any other nation of the world—except Great Britain. We have engaged in interminable discussion and effort during these last fifteen years to expand our merchant marine across the seas. We have today some 3,600,000 tons actively engaged in international trade, of which 1,720,000 tons are privately owned.
Learning Lesson.
"At least we are learning that governments cannot conduct competitive business. Gradually we will, no doubt, secure this primary marine service upon a basis of private adventure and enterprise—the only way the sea can ever be mastered. We will some day have a sound merchant marine in foreign trade. Our national interests makes it imperative.
"But it is not my purpose to discuss our Government failures. Rather would I recount the field in which we have made success. We have built our coastwise and lake fleets wisely. We have arranged through sound policies for its preservation and protection. From the birth of the Republic we have reserved that trade for vessels owned by our own citizens and built in our own shipyards, operated by private enterprise not by the Government. That policy was laid down in an early session of the American Congress in the year 1792 when Alexander Hamilton was Secretary of the Treasury and administered our navigation laws. It has been adhered to ever since.
Asks No Subsidy.
"This great transportation system asks no Government aid and no public subsidy. It has been built up and is sustained by the impelling force of American individualism. We have a seacoast longer than that of any maritime nation, teeming with productive communities and demanding the facilities of commercial intercourse.
There is no richer source for the transportation of passengers and property.
"The opportunities have been great and American initiative has seized them freely and efficiently. The only contribution of Government has been in the preservation of this American trade in American ships. That governmental policy has been adhered to through all our national life against every effort to break it down. It is an essential national policy.
"From the example before our eyes to-day we learn the pleasant lesson that our coastwise service is not stagnant but is alive and growing, and that the men who conduct it are appreciative of their duties in public service. Twenty years ago the Matson Navigation Company, whose guests we are, held an important place in ocean navigation. It owned only four small vessels, all plying between our Pacific Coast and Hawaii.
A Great Advance.
"All of them together did not approach in tonnage the single ship whose launching we are celebrating. In type and in construction, in convenience and in safety, they could not be mentioned in comparison. Mechanical development and marine engineering of the last twenty years have made this progress possible. The flag of the Matson Company now flies on a fleet of twenty-five vessels to which to-day we add the Malolo as its queen.
"The ship which is to-day christened and devoted to the service of the American people is one which confirms our confidence in the ability of our people to maintain to us a seagoing service of the finest improvement."
GOING HOME FOR GOOD.
H.M.S. "Cairo," of the East Indies Squadron, which left Colombo on a cruise of East African waters, returned to Colombo this morning, en route, calling at Male and paying the annual naval visit to the Sultan of the Maldives.
The "Cairo" is shortly to be withdrawn from this port. She will return to England to pay off on the arrival here of the "Enterprise," which is expected towards the end of this month.
Osaka, August 13.—The British freighter Silver Cedar, which went aground on August 9 off the Shikoku coast, was refloated to-day after 800 tons of iron had been transhipped from the vessel. No damage is reported.

CAPTAIN FINED.

FOR CONCEALING CHOLERA CASE.

Weihaiwei, August 12.—The Captain of the Lientsing, which arrived from Shanghai on August 3, was fined $250 for a breach of quarantine regulations, and the steamer's commander and second commander were each sentenced to twelve months' imprisonment on a charge of concealing a sick tallyman during the Port Doctor's inspection and afterwards attempting to smuggle the man ashore.
They were in a sampan near the shore when the body of the tallyman was dumped into the sea. The body was recovered in a few minutes. The postmortem showed that the man died from acute cholera. The Court held that the evidence showed that the tallyman was suffering from acute cholera whilst aboard the Lientsing.

COMB THEM OUT.

Coming in the wake of the declaration by His Excellency the Governor of the Canton Government's connivance with pirates and brigands, the astounding piracy of a Hongkong picnic fishing party in Hongkong waters on Saturday evening has created a great sensation. The daring manner in which the attack was carried out shows without the shadow of a doubt that the outrage was thoroughly well planned. The one and only reassuring feature of the whole sorry business is that not one of the picnic party was injured, although the pirates seem to have been both threatening and menacing. The fact that they commandeered one of the launches and the crew shows that they were prepared to go any length in the event of meeting with unexpected resistance. It has been stated by one of the Hongkong party, that he has been fishing at the same spot for the last fifteen years and that never before has there been any instance of molestation from pirates. It may appear logical to assume that a similar period may pass before another outrage on the same scale is executed, and that, therefore, there is nothing about which to be unduly alarmed.

This process of reasoning, however, cannot be expected to appease the popular clamour for an imperative demand on the authorities in Canton to leave no stone unturned in locating and bringing to justice the armed gang responsible for such a wanton outrage in Hongkong waters. They have known for years that the co-operation of the British Navy and of the Hongkong Government is always at their disposal in the suppression of piracy, either in Chinese or British waters. They must now be told more than that. They must be taught that if they are absolutely unable or unwilling to comb out the pirates from their bases in the proximity of Hongkong, that work will be done for them. At the time of writing it is too early to ascertain what, if any, policy has been decided upon by the Hongkong Government or the Naval authorities in regard to Saturday night's outrageous attack on peaceful residents of Hongkong. The community, however, demands that something must be done—and something drastic—to bring both the Canton authorities and the pirate bands to their senses. They must be given a salutary lesson that such outrages cannot be permitted with impunity. They must be told in no unmistakable terms that the limit of our patience has been reached. Mere assurances from the Canton authorities that they will endeavour to locate the pirates will not be sufficient. There must be no more evasion of their obvious duty. The pirates simply have got to be combed out without any further delay, and if Canton does not do her own work it will have to be done by the British Navy and the Government of Hongkong. If Canton fails us now it must just be a case of "full steam ahead" by the British authorities whether Canton likes our methods or not.

TREASURE TROVE.

NOTORIOUS PIRATE SHOT.

Hongkong bank notes weighing 27 lb. avoirdupois were the treasure found on the person of a captured brigand who, although promised a pardon by a treacherous General, was immediately shot with his followers.

[From Our Own Correspondent.]
Pakkai, Kongmoon, Aug. 18.
Chan Chuk-sam, the notorious pirate chieftain, who was captured by the 13th Cantonese division (under General Chan Cheung-po) was brought to Kongmoon from Sunning, and was shot outside the railway station together with several subordinates.

Fleeing from his stronghold near Kwonghoi, he took refuge in a big cave at Tai Lung Tung. The Last Fight.
Inside this natural hiding place, Chan and 400 followers easily resisted the military, who besieged the place.

Bombs were thrown in, machine-guns were brought into position—but all to no purpose as the cave was practically impregnable.

Ultimately starved out, the outlaws surrendered. The terms were a free pardon and incorporation into the regulars' corps.

Once the brigands' arms were taken over for inspection, they were placed under arrest.

Forty were put to death at Sunning and eleven paid the last penalty at Kongmoon.

Thousands of spectators watched the shooting ceremony.

Seven pirates were captured at Pakkai last week when they were out on a little expedition. Four were shot at the Kongmoon railway station—now becoming famous as a place of execution—and the other three were released because of insufficient evidence.

Then another gang attacked Ha Liu village, which is between Pakkai and Ngai-hoi.

The sortie was made at midnight when the villagers were taken by surprise. Over forty persons were marched away to captivity, pending payment of ransom.

The echo of firing from machine-guns and the native field pieces was heard distinctly in Pakkai.

Among the passengers who will leave the Colony to-day, on the P. and O. s.s. "Kalyan" for Home, will be Mr. J. Clelland, of the Kowloon Dock. Mr. Clelland is one of the newest hands at the Dock, but has been forced to go Home on account of a serious breakdown in health.

As a token of the esteem in which he is held at the Dock, his fellow-employees have presented him with a silver tea set, and a blackwood tray as parting gifts. Mr. Clelland's friends wish him a speedy return to health and strength.

The office expects a big number of passengers from Seattle, and cargo, together with United States mail.

The s.s. "Kalyan" of the P. & O. Line will be despatched to-day at 3 p.m. on her return trip to London, Marseilles, via Singapore, with quite a big number of passengers, and cargo for various ports. The "Kalyan" arrived yesterday afternoon from Shanghai.

ARMED THREATS.

FINE OF $100 INSTEAD OF IMPRISONMENT.

At the Central Magistracy on Saturday, Mr. R. E. Lindsey considered a sentence of six months' hard labour imposed on a member of the Labour Maintenance Bureau for assault. The case was one in which the defendant with another man were alleged to have escaped from the police by pointing revolvers at them.

The Hon. Mr. E. D. C. Wolfe (C.S.P.) said that he investigated the matter thoroughly and had received an assurance from the officers concerned that such a thing would not happen again. In asking His Worship to consider the imposition of a fine, Mr. Wolfe remarked that these men had rendered valuable help during a critical time and, although the offence was a serious one, the police officers averted trouble by acting discreetly.

Defendant was fined $100. The other man concerned in the case was discharged.

CONCERT ON BEHALF OF M.C.L.

In aid of the Ministering Children's League an open air concert was held at the Tai Koo Recreation Club on Saturday night and was well patronised. A fine programme had been arranged and the large audience thoroughly enjoyed itself, the weather being all that could be desired. The programme, which showed a slight variation from that originally drafted, was as follows:

GREEK REVOLT.

AN ANTI-BOLSHEVIST COUP.

PANGALOS AT BAY.

Athens, August 22. A bloodless revolution has broken out. General Kondylis, who is master of the situation, has arrested the War Minister, Tseroulis, and ordered the arrest of General Pangalos. The insurgents have occupied the telegraph office and all the military establishments.

All the Army officers have placed themselves at the disposal of the new Government, which Kondylis.

GENERAL PANGALOS.

who holds anti-Bolshevist views, has ordered by proclamation. It will be formed on National lines, under the Presidency of M. Condouriotis.

General Pangalos is at present on the island of Spetzai.

Later, Kondylis carried out his coup with the aid of the Athens Garrison.

He explains that the revolution is aimed at destroying General Pangalos's tyranny.

The fleet and army supported Kondylis, and a warship has gone to Spetzai to arrest General Pangalos.

Athens is quite calm.—Reuter.

Pangalos Arrested.

Athens, August 22. General Pangalos has been arrested at Spetzai and is on his way to Athens on board a destroyer.—Reuter.

Destroyer Missing.

Athens, August 22. Some alarm is felt as to the whereabouts of the destroyer bringing General Pangalos to Athens, and it is suspected that it may have sailed to some foreign port.

Accordingly a second destroyer and seaplanes have been sent to find it.

The city wears the usual Sunday aspect except that the principal buildings are guarded and armoured cars are patrolling the streets.—Reuter.

The First News.

Athens, August 22. Athenians were roused from their sleep at seven o'clock in the morning by the buzz of aeroplanes which dropped leaflets announcing the revolution, and the end of the "Pangalos tyranny," and the beginning of a new regime which will re-establish legal order and constitutional liberty and hold a legislative election within eight months.

The actual coup was carried out in the depth of night. Officers paraded the troops of the National Republican Guard at three o'clock in the morning and announced the revolution. They marched, the men from the barracks to the city, taking possession of the Government buildings. The garrisons throughout the country, including those at Salonica joined the revolution.

General Kondylis will form a Cabinet to-morrow with himself as Prime Minister and reinstating Admiral Paul Condouriotis as President.—Reuter.

Escape Impossible.

Athens, Later.

The destroyer Pergamos, with General Pangalos on board, has been sighted near Hydra. Orders have been given to bombard her if she does not surrender. Her escape is practically impossible.

Admiral Condouriotis is on his way to Athens.

There are no reports of disturbances, and the Press censorship has been abolished.

Madame Pangalos has left the country.—Reuter.

AQUATIC FETE.

V.R.C. BEAT H.K.V.D.C. AT WATER POLO.

A NEW CHAIRMAN.

An announcement that Rear-Admiral A. J. B. Stirling, R.N., had kindly consented to be the Chairman of the Victoria Recreation Club was made by Mr. W. Logan (Acting Chairman) at the first night fete of this institution held on Saturday in the presence of a large gathering.

Admiral Stirling and Miss Stirling were among those present. The programme contained a variety of items which proceeded without a hitch, and some close finishes were seen. The Misses Hunt again proved their swimming prowess by winning the 50 yards ladies' event.

Owing to the absence of two members of the H.K.V.D.C. at Tai-koo, two substitutes did service for them in the water polo match against the V.R.C. The goalkeeper for the Volunteers (Knights) did very well and saved many goals, being beaten toward the end by two hot shots from close range.

Dancing took place during the intervals and at the close of the events to the music of the Lyric Orchestra.

An exhibition of the Charleston was given by special request. Mrs. W. Logan gave away the prizes and was the recipient of cheers, as were also Mr. Logan and the new Chairman, Admiral Stirling.

INTERPORT TRIAL.

LAWN BOWLS VISIT TO SHANGHAI.

HONGKONG SELECTION.

Lawn bowls enthusiasts, together with a number of ladies, showed keen interest in the first interport trial at the Kowloon C.C. on Saturday.

It is anticipated that the local team will leave here between September 6 and 10 for Shanghai.

Ten players were on the list—too many for one rink—and it was decided at the commencement to ask the respective No. 2's on each side to stand down half way through and make room for the other two players. It might have been better to have played the identical eight from beginning to end, as naturally two players going in half way through cannot be expected to give of their best.

Particularly—as was the case on Saturday—after sitting in a broiling sun. In any event a second trial game will be played on the same ground this Saturday afternoon, which should provide sufficient data for the Selection Committee.

The standard of play was of a very high order throughout. There were few—if any—follies; whilst the majority of the heads were very closely contested indeed. Several times the spectators applauded extra good efforts by the players, but on the whole they were un-demonstrative, which was perhaps just as well looking to the serious nature of the play. This much can be said—no matter what team is eventually selected it should be one that can be relied upon to make a good try at winning on "the green" soil.

It was rather unfortunate in being given a rink that was far inferior in every department of the game to that skipped by Watherspoon. Oswald was erratic and was as often as not either too short or a yard or a yard and a half through. Omar, the opposing lead, was consistent throughout, and was certainly the better player of the day's play.

Holland, at No. 2, always had the measure of Morrison. Indeed, of the eight playing in the first half, Holland must be awarded the palm. Lapsley was disappointing, even conceding that he was placed at No. 3 instead of his usual place as skip, although he improved later in the game. The opposing No. 3, Farrell, was unfortunate enough to play whilst indisposed and naturally could not be expected to give of his best.

Of the two skips, the score is sufficient to demonstrate Watherspoon's superiority over Gow.

At half time Holland and Morrison stood down in favour of Dobbie and R. Smith, the score then being 13-6 in favour of Watherspoon's rink. The changes, however, helped Gow not at all, as all the succeeding heads but one went against him, Watherspoon's powerful rink eventually winning by 30 points against 8.

Scores:—
Omar 13
Holland 13
Lapsley 13
Watherspoon 13
Gow 8

LEAGUE BOWLS.

EAST POINT AND KOWLOON LEADING.

NECK AND NECK RACE.

There were only three matches in the Hongkong Lawn Bowls League on Saturday. That between the Kowloon Cricket Club and the Indian Recreation Club was not played, the Indians being unable to raise a team. The latter conceded the points. It is also understood that they have given the points to East Point whom they should meet this week.

The Civil Service were defeated by a small margin by Tai-koo on the Craigengower green. The former have now completed their programme for this season.

East Point, by their victory over the Yacht Club, are running neck and neck with the Kowloon Cricket Club for the championship, and having been given the points by the Indians, complete their programme.

The K.C.C. have to meet Craigengower on Saturday next. Should they lose the East Point will win the championship. On the other hand, if the K.C.C. win a play off between these two Clubs will be likely.

The Club de Recreio received the Craigengower and lost by a very narrow margin.

"Full details of this competition, also the invitation sent to all of the smaller colonies, etc., will be found below.

What About Hongkong?
It has been suggested that Hongkong be represented in 1927 and in each year whenever possible by those who may be home on leave. This notice it is hoped will attract anyone who is interested in adding to the prestige of Hongkong in this particular branch of sport and in which it may be added, if our best men can arrange to go, success may reasonably be expected. Two and possibly three of our best rifle shots anticipate being in the old country in 1927. Possibly the Hongkong authorities may be willing to assist in a venture of this nature. Shanghai will probably be represented next year, also the Straits. Hongkong can hold its own with any four in the East as is shown in the records of the past five years.

Qualification for members of the team would be any past or present member of H. M. Forces resident in the Colony during the year they are representing us. If any gentlemen wishing to assist in this attempt to send a team to Bisley next July would send in their names to either of the following gentlemen it would be appreciated:—

Major Stamford, Chairman, Hongkong Rifle League, c/o Royal Army Ordnance Department, or Mr. F. C. Goodman, Acting Hon. Secretary, Hongkong Rifle League, Kowloon Dock.

FIGHTING MALARIA.

KILL MOSQUITOES & REDUCE THE SCOURGE.

Sir Ronald Ross, K.C.B., K.C.M.G., F.R.S., the famous conqueror of the malaria scourge and now Director-in-Chief of the Ross Institute and Hospital for Tropical Diseases, writes in the "Daily Mail":—

The prevention of malaria is a subject of supreme importance for the whole of the Tropics. Malaria is perhaps the most ubiquitous of all maladies in warm countries, and persecutes humanity in some of the most beautiful areas of the world. It used to kill, not merely render sick, more than a million persons in India alone, according to an old official estimate; and we can only infer the prevalence of the disease in Africa and tropical America.

Even in England, where our bad climate probably does much to control our mosquitoes, some three or four hundred cases of malaria occurred during the war, having been communicated by English Anopheles from patients who had been infected at Salonica and in Africa.

The disease itself does not show a high case-mortality, but persons who once become infected with the malaria germ are apt to remain infected for months or years.

The disease is caused by a minute parasite of the blood discovered in 1880 by Dr. A. Laveran. Fortunately quinine is a well-known cure, and the parasites rapidly diminish in number while it is being taken. Unfortunately it is by no means easy to persuade patients to take the drug long enough to effect a complete cure; and the result is that local mosquitoes often easily find infected persons from whom they can communicate the parasites to healthy ones.

Pools of Infection.

The fact that mosquitoes can convey the infection from the sick to the healthy was quite conclusively proved in 1898, and since then we have not found any evidence that it may be communicated in any other way.

After the proof was obtained several methods of dealing with malaria were suggested. Robert Koch thought that the best method would be to cure all the patients by assiduous treatment with quinine, so that the mosquitoes would be left without any parasites to carry.

Then many savants suggested wire-gauze protection for all the houses, and veils and gloves for private persons, with the careful use of mosquito-netting at night.

My own proposal, with which I have bored everyone, antagonised some, and infuriated a few, has always been, since 1898, that the best way to reduce malaria in many places is by reducing the mosquitoes. The insects breed in pools and streams, and are very vulnerable in the larval stage, when they can be destroyed or driven away by many well-known methods.

Since those times our knowledge has increased vastly, especially in connection with the exact species of the malaria-bearing mosquitoes (Anopheles) and their habits; and to-day not much more remains to be done than to apply the knowledge gained.

Many enthusiastic experts are now labouring in this line. I recently returned from an excursion to Ceylon to investigate the very troublesome malaria there. The disease costs the Colony a large sum. In one plantation alone it was costing one thousand pounds every month during the malaria season. This expenditure was due to loss of labour, sickness allowances, family allowances, and hospital treatment.

Cost in Lives and Money. What must be the cost of the disease not only throughout that Colony but throughout the Tropics? I will ask the reader to think what the saving would be if there were no malaria at all in the world—how our dividends would go up and our taxation down! And, above all, how the health of the poor people who live in the Tropics would improve. It has been shown that the death-rate of malarious areas is two and three times that of similar non-malarious areas.

During the last quarter of a century many valuable institutes for the study of tropical diseases have grown up. Our new institute is to be devoted to research, not teaching; and research is open to the whole world.

Shall we ever be able to banish malaria from the world altogether? I doubt it; but I think now, as I said twenty-seven years ago, that it can be vastly reduced in towns, crowded localities, and special areas such as plantations. Every case saved means so much money saved, besides the saving in illness.

"Labour leaders should realise that the great factor for the prosperity of the workman is output."—Lord Waring.

BALLROOM SPEED.

IS DANCING DETERIORATING AT HOME?

Is Ballroom dancing deteriorating? The President of the British Association of Teachers of Dancing thinks it is, and states a leading reason concisely: "Dance bands have too much licence... most of the bandmen are not dancers themselves, and do not understand dancing from the dancers' point of view."

To an old-fashioned observer our ballrooms certainly do present a queer appearance—chaotic, untidy, no order, no method, everyone doing what he likes, how he likes, when and where he likes. The Charleston is partly to blame—that, and the growing expertness of the dancing crowd, who dance so much that they no longer bother to take lessons when a new step or dance comes in, but "get the hang of it" from a friend, and proceed to do the dance with variations of their own.

The net result is that our ballrooms are gay enough, instead of being rather restrained, solemn, and intent. But the disorderliness of it all is very disturbing to an academician and even to a non-dancer who likes to see method and symmetry.

How much the bands are to blame for this new state of affairs is a question. But they, too, are adventuring. The celebrated bands more and more concentrate on weird musical experiments, some of which sound like futuristic painting expressed in sound. They call this "concert jazz." Many a dancer, obliged to move to it in a crowded club, calls it by quite another name.

A famous band which recently paid us a visit played at such a speed that even expert young dancers got annoyed. The leader explained that he wanted to give us "something new." The dancers said that what they wanted was a rhythm they could dance to. The dance band leader was out of sympathy with that attitude; he wanted the crowd to follow his band, and in his native States he was used to getting what he wanted.

The dancing of America is largely to blame for the antics of many of our bands to-day. In America, if you say it loud enough, it is so; and when the word goes forth that dancing is to be "peppy," because some great dance musician says so, bands accept it, and dancers quicken up. The word arrives here, and our bands follow suit, believing that they are in the van of fashion. The unlucky dancers, who are not consulted, are dragged at the tail of the waggon.

Only one thing can bring the bands back into line—a revolt of the dancers, says Mr. Patrick Chalmers, in the "Daily Mail."
